REFERENCE ON THE INTERNATIONAL WOMEN' S DAY

THE DEPUTY CHAIRMAN (DR. (SHRIMATI) NAJMA HEPTULLA) : Sir, thank you very much for giving me this opportunity, and I am happy that the HRD Minister, Dr. Murli Manohar Joshi, is present over here, because this concerns his Ministry also, as this Ministry, apart from other things, is responsible for empowerment of women. Sir, this is a very important day for half the population of the world totaling about 3 billion, I mean, the women. I take this opportunity to wish you all, the men also, a very happy Women's Day.

From the same place, some six years ago, I had moved a Resolution that was adopted unanimously for the empowerment of women. It led to the formation of the Parliamentary Committee on Women's Empowerment. I had the privilege to be its first Chairperson. This Resolution gave a greater resolve to all the political parties to allocate more tickets to women in elections at all levels. And, in the Congress Party, they took a conscious decision to have 33 per cent reservation at the party level at every stage. From then onwards our fight for greater share in Parliament became stronger. However, every successive Government has been
